

Opinium Research Results/ Tables June 2013

1,942 Online Interviews (GB Nat. Rep)

1,622 Likely Voters

Field: 12th to 14th June 2013

If the Base is not otherwise specified, the table is based on the full sample and is representative of all GB adults

Where column base is below 50 respondents, figures should be seen as indicative only and we advise against using these when reporting unless appropriate caveats are given

To ensure a nationally representative sample, Opinium weights data to match the following criteria:

The current basic salary for an MP is £66,396 per annum. Thinking about how much MPs are paid, to what extent would you say you agree or disagree with each of the following statements?
V4 Topical

The current salary is enough and should not be increased under any circumstances

It's important that MPs are paid well in order to attract people from a variety of income backgrounds

Most MPs can be trusted not to let their private financial interests influence how they do their jobs

It is important to pay MPs enough to ensure that they are not tempted to add to their income by taking work other than their duties as an MP

I would be happy if MPs were paid more than the current basic salary if this meant that they would not be allowed to earn income from outside sources

Last week an individual called Edward Snowden revealed to the public top secret documents from the US intelligence agency, The NSA, about a surveillance program called PRISM. The documents suggest that the US government was and is able to access detailed records of individual smartphone and internet activity via PRISM.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with each of the following statements about Edward Snowden?

	He has committed a crime and needs to be prosecuted	He is he a hero, willing to sacrifice himself for the public good	He has knowingly broken the rules of his employer and should be reprimanded	Our security services are doing everything to keep us safe and he has put the public in danger	He has done something brave and should be heard, not prosecuted
